Welcome!

The WTHS family welcomes Mr. Phillip Palumbo, the newest addition to the art department. Mr. Palumbo is excited to initiate new adventures into the student experience and as such brought in some unique bamboo brushes. Along with a history lesson on these unique brushes resembling those used in the 400 BC, students had the opportunity to use them. This fluid transference of utility gave both Zakiah Jackson and Sinthia Marie Brooks the experience of using old world tools to create modern works of art. Sinthia Marie Brooks framed her experience as such, "...there's a freedom of movement with the width of the line. It's also darker than most materials might ever be." Stay tuned for future explorations from this pioneering group of artists and their teacher!

College Visits

The WTHS Guidance Department has begun facilitating college visits for seniors. The most recent one was led by Ms. Weston and 23 students had the opportunity to visit Camden County College campus, meet with counselors, students and get better perspective on planning a path to college. Seniors are asked to join their counselor's guidance class page and stay tuned to alerts regarding future such opportunities and scholarships.

Giving Tree

The WTHS SGA (Student Government Assoc.), mentored by Mrs. Alexander and Ms. Clark, would like to thank the high school staff, students, and NJ NEA PRIDE for participating in the annual SGA Giving Tree initiative. The generosity and kindness allowed for the distribution of gifts for 21 Winslow Twp. families, including 51 kids!!! Three families also received complete Christmas dinners.

Celebrating the 1920s

Just before Winter Break, Winslow Township High School was visited by key people from the 1920s in a mock Speakeasy put together by Mrs. Connor's US History II classes. Special guests included Langston Hughes, Duke Ellington, Al Capone, Bessie Smith, Coco Channel, Amelia Earhart, and many others. Additionally, there were bearcats, bimbos and even some eggs in attendance. The Speakeasy allowed students to get a feel for life in the 1920s. After studying the time period, students were given a list of historical figures to choose from and specialize their research. On the morning of the Speakeasy, students were granted time travel through the library doors with a secret password. Walking in meant going into a room staged as if from the 1920s with only the period's slang as acceptable. During the Speakeasy, students mingled and held two to three-minute conversations about their historical identities and significance with at least seven other historical figures, along with a few visiting teachers and Administrators. Students also passed out self-generated business cards at the end of their interviews. Jazz music set the tone as the guests from the 1920s mingled and snacked on finger food and drinks. All of the students really enjoyed role playing and dressing as their historical figure for the day. It was the bees knees!

Honing Analysis Skills

Mr. Pino's AP Literature and Composition class took a trip on Friday, December 2nd to the Philadelphia Museum of Art. After a great lunch at the Reading Terminal Market, attendees spent the evening viewing and absorbing the art at one of the greatest collections in the country. The students will use this trip to hone their analysis skills of the creative arts. Ultimately, students will apply these experience-based skills to their analysis of the literary arts for the rest of the year.

History Coming to Life

History came to life on December 22, 2022, when Mrs. Feighery's Advanced Placement United States History students (APUSH) honored President Abraham Lincoln (rest his soul!) with a well-researched and planned funeral. Dressed in black and in character, each student gave a minute-long eulogy as one of his historical acquaintances. Some of the notable historical attendees included Mary Todd Lincoln, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Clara Barton, William H. Seward, Gideon Wells, Salmon Chase, John C. Calhoun, Thaddeus Stevens, Edwin Stanton, Jefferson Davis, George B. McClellan, Frederick Douglass, Stephen Douglas, John F. Parker, Major Henry Rathbone, Harriet Tubman, Ulysses S. Grant, Doctor Charles Leale, Robert E. Lee, Robert Todd Lincoln, Andrew Johnson and Hannibal Hamlin. President Lincoln's (closed) casket was prominently placed in the room with a framed copy of the last picture taken of him. Mrs. Feighery, dressed as the famous poet, Walt Whitman, commenced the service by reading Whitman's famous poem "O Captain, My Captain!" to the somber and respectful audience. Each eulogy for the fallen president was delivered orally and included remembrances of Lincoln as an elected official, supporter, colleague, father, husband and friend. The service ended with light refreshments and shared discussions about Lincoln's accomplishments and legacy.

Congratulations

Principal's Honor Roll

Congratulations to all seventy-five students who received Principal's Honor Roll by earning an A in all their courses. Students were called to the auditorium for a special recognition assembly. Each student was called up by their Assistant Principal, to receive certificates and personalized congratulations from Mr. Marella. The parents of the students were invited to the assembly and many of them attended. As an added treat, the WTHS chorus regaled the honorees with holiday music. It was a great start to the well-deserved break from school!

WTHS Girls' Basketball

Winslow Township High School's Girls' Basketball team is definitely making moves this season. The ladies scrimmaged against Holy Cross on December 7th and won! The season/home opener against Cherokee on December 15th resulted in a tough battle with the WTHS girls establishing themselves as definite competitors. Coaches, Jason Handy, Alexa Gleason and Michelle Hairston are looking forward to a great season with this promising team. Stay tuned for buckets!!!

All Eastern Treble Chorus

Congratulations to Keziah Awa (Grade 12) and Gianna Cavallero (Grade 11), two exemplary singers who have been accepted into the 2023 All Eastern Treble Chorus! This is an exceptional feat, attained by only a handful of our students over the last several decades with the last time being 2018. As members of this prestigious ensemble, the students will travel to Rochester, NY, to rehearse and perform April 13-16, 2023. The culminating performance will take place at 10:00 AM on April 16th at Kodak Hall at the Eastman School of Music. In other music news, the WTHS Music Department Winter Concert was held at 6:00pm on Tuesday, December 20, 2022, in the Sarah Gordy Auditorium. The concert featured a cultural song, holiday classics, and even an impromptu lyric challenge that engaged the audience. Continuing with tradition, the concert closed with "Lord Bless You and Keep You" with a welcome to the large number of alumni who were present to join. Also, as is customary, students went from room to room on the final day of school and regaled the WTHS community with holiday favorites. Thank you, Mr. Doheny, for being a superb teacher and community builder!

choir

Environmental Club

As we start a new year, the WTHS Environmental Club would like challenge the entire school to be greener. As such, this month's postings around the school and student-generated Instagram images will be lists of simple actions people can take to be more sustainable. Support the students by being part of the change needed!

FBLA EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH

Congratulations to Aidan Kough who was awarded November's Employee of the Month for his service and dedication to the FBLA school store! November was also a successful fundraising month with the sale of enough holiday boxes of See's candies and chocolates that FBLA members had the resources to create three hundred goody bags for military personnel stationed overseas. Finally, on October 31, 2022, FBLA officers visited Kean University for the State Conference. Students participated in four interactive & collaborative workshops which focused on identifying leadership styles, instantaneous networking, managing time, public speaking and advancing social media presence.
