

2510 ADOPTION OF TEXTBOOKS

The Board of Education believes that textbooks should support and enrich the curriculum and make possible the achievement of the district's instructional goals. The Superintendent shall develop procedures for continual review of new texts being offered and evaluation of those already in use to ensure that the textbooks used in this district are up to date in the factual matter they present and further the district's instructional goals. All recommendations will consider the following questions:

1. Does the material reflect the district's affirmative action policy, which prohibits the teaching or encouragement of racial, sexual, religious, ethnic or age bias?
2. Does it help pupils develop abilities in critical reading and thinking?
3. Does it provide effective basic or advanced education for the pupils for whom it is intended?

Instructional materials used within the district should be sufficient in quantity and scope to meet the needs of every pupil in the district.

The Superintendent shall assign staff to direct the review process.

1. A review will include teaching staff members, particularly those teachers who will be using the materials as an integral part of the instructional program.
2. Include a written review of the material which shall reflect the consensus of the teaching staff.
3. Submit recommendations to the Superintendent for his/her review.

The Board, by law, makes the final approval on textbooks to be adopted.

Any citizen who objects to the final selections made by the Board should follow the procedures outlined in policy regarding public complaints about the curriculum or instructional materials.
